Salzburg-based Vega International transports the most valuable products in the automotive industry. With a highly innovative spirit, we do this while assuming our responsibility for the environment within this most sensitive of sectors.

The network behind our success

Vega transports vehicles by road, rail and sea. Our ship and train solutions in particular help us to participate actively in protecting the environment by saving CO₂.

Working with strategic rail partners, we implement projects and innovations that allow us to offer environmentally friendly, customer-oriented and pioneering off-road solutions, and together we designed our own locomotive, which works ceaselessly every day.

Our philosophy is simple: excellence

We invest a significant amount of time as well as money to deliver on this promise.

Only the best drivers are used in order to ensure a high level of safety, punctuality and environmental responsibility.

Employee training is at the forefront of our philosophy. Through ongoing training we update the knowledge and the skills of our drivers to stay current with the ever-increasing requirements of the industry.

The name Vega stands for innovation, environmental protection, efficiency and committed employees.

Today, Vega International, along with its subsidiary operations and branches, has approximately 1,000 trade plates across Europe and can move up to 1,000 commercial vehicles a day.

Creating confidence

The leading worldwide manufacturers in the commercial vehicle industry, such as Mercedes, Iveco, MAN, DAF, Volvo, Scania and Dongfeng as well as trailer companies like Schmitz, Krone and Kässbohrer, trust the reliability and responsibility of Vega.

Today, we handle entire transport and logistics networks, regardless of distance and the number of units. Since last year, we have supported Chinese manufacturers and their importers on the land route from China to Russia, for example in the transport of trucks.

Approximately 100,000 vehicles are currently transferred each year.
